Ban On Use Of Forest Area Lifted

Nearby Mountain Trails Again Open To The Public With Restrictions

Fred Meyer, Santa Anita District Ranger, announced this week that the emergency wartime fire season closures in the Angeles National Forest, ordered in June and closing all nearby trails to the public have been cancelled and the area opened. Restrictions are still in effect, however, around flood control, water and power structures. These areas will remain closed and under rigid guard.

Snow removal and other maintenance jobs on mountain highways leading to recreational areas may be discontinued, at least temporarily during bad storm periods on the Angeles Crest Highway from Red Box to the end of route, so equipment and funds may be concentrated on roads vital to the war effort. The Angeles Crest will be maintained however, as far as Red Box because it is the access route to the Angeles Forest Highway cut-off to Palmdale and to the Mt. Wilson observatory road.

All winter sports playgrounds in the Angeles Forest, including Mt. Waterman and Big Pines ski area will be maintained throughout the winter.

Although summer smoking regulations have been lifted, anyone found being careless with cigarettes and fire will be arrested and prosecuted.

Meyer also announced this week that Henry Doll, formerly assistant fire dispatcher in the Pasadena office, is replacing Keith Kaylor at the Santa Anita station.

WAR HITS HOME BUILDING HERE REAL WALLOP

Starting off with a bang during the first two months of 1942, the war caught up with new building construction in Sierra Madre as elsewhere and knocked it into a cocked hat. Value of new buildings here dropped from $334,436 at the close of 1941, to $110,372 at the end of 1942. And nearly all of this 1942 new construction went up in January and February before the priorities system became effective.

Total number of new buildings for the year was 28, in contrast with 70 in 1941. Value of all permits issued in December was only $250, mostly for repairs and chicken houses and rabbit hutches. A year ago last December value of permits was $11,565.

SIERRA MADREANS ATTACK FOOD SHORTAGE PROBLEM ON THREE FRONTS

With the certainty that the shortage of fresh vegetables will be more acute this than last year Sierra Madreans are not only planting Victory gardens in a big way, but are taking other steps to meet the food shortage. With the meat supply scant, uncertain and scheduled for rationing next month, and eggs almost unobtainable, they are going in for the raising of chickens and rabbits.

With new home and other construction prohibited by the priorities system, City Building Inspector William Lees reports the value of building permits issued during the last few months practically nil. Instead of scanning plans and inspecting the construction of new homes his time is largely given over to okeying plans for rabbit hutches and chicken houses. Dozens of them have been built within the last 60 days.

Fear of growing labor shortages, uncertainty about transportation and the fact that several large truck producing areas have been taken over by the government is sure to greatly reduce the production of garden truck in Los Angeles county and it is expected there will be at least half a dozen Victory gardens here during 1943 for every one in 1942.

Local residents are so Victory garden conscious that many requests have been made that the Sierra Madre Garden Club devote an early meeting to the subject. This will be done at a dinner meeting of the club to be held at the Masonic Temple at 6:30 next Tuesday evening, January

Local Draftees Go To Training Camps

Two Sierra Madre boys who were inducted into the Army last month were granted a 36-hour leave to spend New Year's day with their parents. They were Ellett Jackson, son of Mrs. E. L. Jackson of 55 Auburn ave., and Bernard Wynne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie B. Wynne of 273 Sturtevant dr. Jackson is now stationed at Camp Roberts, and Wynne is at Jefferson Barracks, Mo., with the Army Air Corps Engineers.

While no word has been received from John Kennedy and Jobey Kiggins who were also inducted last month, it is thought they are in a Florida training camp.

Committees Of Kiwanis Appointed

"As civilians in defense, church and home work, we are going to have to buckle down to good, hard, solid facts to even the score on the privations being undergone by men in our armed forces," said Rev. Frederic Groetsma in a talk Tuesday at the Kiwanis Club's first luncheon meeting of the new year. Mr. Groetsma spoke on "Am I Worth Dying For," and stressed the importance of making 1943 resolutions mean a greater effort on part of civilians to win the war.

Harry Lange presided over the meeting for the first time since his installation in December. Other new officers to take their places included R. C. Lewis, vice-president; J. S. Billheimer, secretary; and Art Morse, treasurer.

Committees were announced for 1943 as follows: Underprivileged children, Donald Damon and Hilliard Barnard; community service, Clarence Huntsinger, Charles Klunk and Barnard; publicity and bulletin, Dr. J. S. Miller, Ernest Gray and Rudolph Hartman; public affairs, Bruce McGill, R. O. Calkin and J. S. Billheimer; education, Raymond Simpson; finance, R. C. Lewis and Frank Spencer; classification and membership, Dr. A. O. Pritchard and Donald Damon; agriculture, Gerald Smith and Dan Reib; support of churches, Dr. J. Earl Gossard, Dr. Pritchard, R. H. Start Is Made For Great Hospital

Take First Step Toward Creation Of Hastings Tuberculosis Clinic

First step toward establishment of a great clinic and hospital for the study and treatment of tuberculosis, provided for in the will of the late Charles H. Hastings, owner of the famed Hastings ranch, has been taken by the filing at Sacramento or pre-incorporation papers for the Hastings Foundation.

Backed by several million dollars of the Hastings estate, the original directors of the Foundation are given as Comdr. Ernest Crawford May, Dr. Leroy B. Sherry and Lloyd W. Brooke. Mr. Hastings stipulated in his will that the proposed institute shall be a memorial to his father, Charles Cook Hastings. It will not necessarily be located on the great ranch, the will merely providing that it be so located as to attract the greatest medical talent obtainable to its staff.

It will start with a small research center pending conversion of the ranch and other properties of the estate into funds necessary to carry through the project. The directors, however, indicate the ranch will be held intact until there is a favorable market. Mr. Hastings having once refused an offer of two million dollars cash for the property made by the late Henry E. Huntington.

That portion of Mr. Hastings will setting up the Hastings Foundations read as follows:

"I have long contemplated organizing a non-sectarian charitable corporation under the name of 'The Hastings Foundation' for the study, prevention, treatment and cure of tuberculosis. Such corporation shall have power to erect, equip and maintain a sanitarium... and it shall be conducted and maintained on a strictly charitable basis and no charge shall be made to patients therein, or for any treatment or other aid rendered thereby. Such corporation shall also be authorized to undertake the study, prevention, treatment and cure of other diseases, so that if at some future time said board determines that it is advisable to use its facilities, in whole or in part, in order to combat some other disease or disorders, it would have power to do so."

Sierra Madre Japanese To Serve U. S.

Two Boys Born Here Are Being Trained For Army Intelligence Bureau

Word comes from the Japanese relocation center at Rivers, Ariz., to which Sierra Madre Japanese have been transferred, that two Sierra Madre Japanese-American boys have been sent from there to a training school in a northwestern state where they are being prepared for service in the Army Intelligence Bureau, having previously passed army tests for the assignments.

They are sons of well known Japanese families who resided and were in business here for many years. A brother of one of the boys has been in the Army since late in 1940. Oddly enough both of them attribute the opportunity that now presents itself to serve the United States to the fact that against their wishes they attended a Japanese language school that operated on Grove st. here and to the conduct of which several local Japanese were involved when the school was ordered closed by the government. At this school they learned the Japanese language which is the first essential in the duties for which they are being trained.

Graduates of the school they are attending will be sent with contingents of the Army into countries overrun by the Japanese after the attack on Pearl Harbor.

Also from the center comes the news that Kimiko Shimizu, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George S. Shimizu who were well known here, was married November 30, at Rivers, Ariz., to Masato Inouye, formerly of Guadalupe. The couple met in the assembly center at Tulare, to which place local Japanese were sent. He is a graduate of Yale and is also scheduled for training in the Army intelligence service.

Assemblyman Looks For Harmony At The State Capital

On the eve of his departure for opening of the present legislative session at Sacramento, Assemblyman T. Fenton Knight of this district predicted that the session will be short and business-like, with the legislators and Governor Warren giving the right of way to legislation designed to increase California's importance in winning the war. He believes there will be a perfect understanding between the economy group in the last legislature and the new executive.

"I predict that the appropriations for the coming biennium will not be as large as the spending agencies would like nor will they be as small as the taxpayer would desire," said Mr. Knight. "Although I look forward to a constructive and business-like session, centered principally on winning the war."

"I anticipate complete harmony and understanding between the legislative and executive branches of our government with a mutual respect for the independency of both."

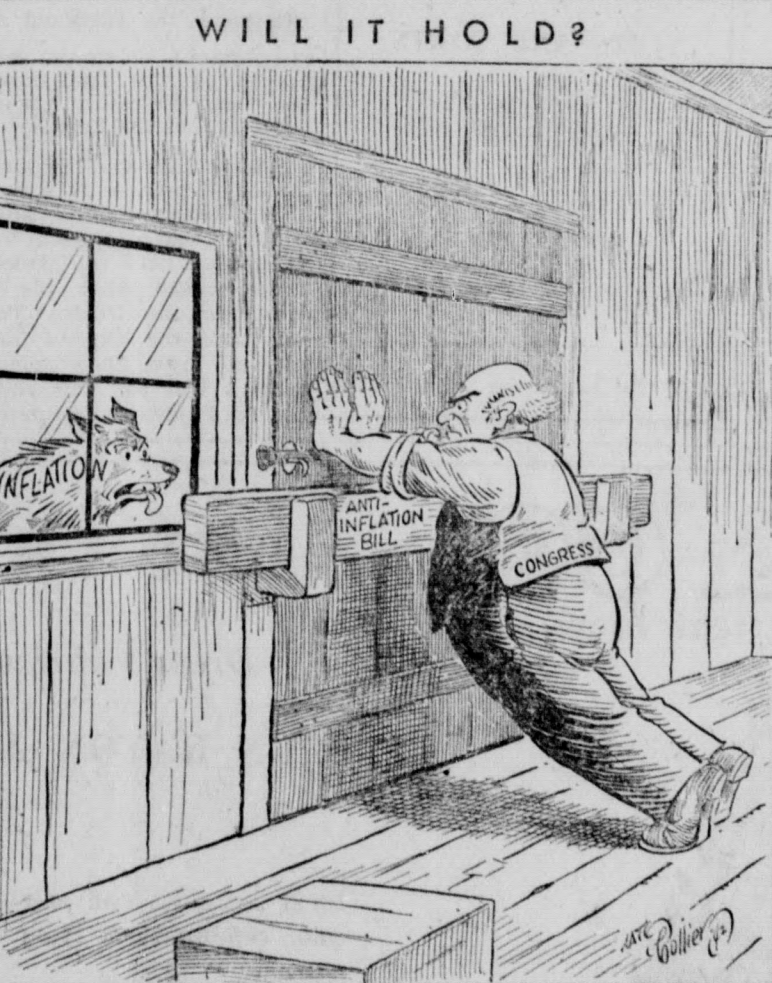

General's Wife Will Address Bundles For America Meet

Mrs. Maxwell Murray, wife of Gen. Murray, and Mrs. Marshall Neal of Pasadena, will speak on the needs of the home front at the opening tea meeting of Bundles For America to be held Thursday afternoon, January 14, from 3 to 5 o'clock at the Parish House of the Church of the Ascension.

The tea, which is open to the public, will allow Sierra Madreans to become better acquainted with the aims and work of this organization.

OLD GLORY FLIES FROM TOWERS OF WESTMINSTER ABBEY AS YANKS OBSERVE THANKSGIVING

An interesting account of the observance of Thanksgiving Day by American soldiers in Westminster Abbey with the American flag flying from its ancient tower for the first time that any emblem other than the Union Jack had ever fluttered from that historic edifice, is told in a letter just received by Mr. and Mrs. Preston M. Schwartz of E. Montecito ave., from their daughter, Mrs. L. E. Lefevre (Sarah Schwartz) in London.

A resident of England since her marriage, Mrs. Lefevre has been serving as an ambulance driver since outbreak of the war abroad and in the dark days when London was under constant bombings by Nazi flyers informed her family here interestingly of the suffering of the English people and their unconquerable will to win. In this most recent letter she wrote, in part as follows: "Only two things in England have impressed me as much as

County Gains 214,400 In Population

California Shows An Increase of 11 Per Cent Since Census of 1940

Population of Los Angeles county at January 1, 1943 is estimated at 3,000,000, a gain of 214,400 since the 1940 Census, the annual estimate of population in California counties, made public this week by California Taxpayers' association, shows. During 1942, the county grew by 25,000, the association estimates. The census showed 2,785,643 people in the county.

Population of California at January 1, 1943, is estimated to be 7,660,000, a gain of 750,000, or 11 per cent, since the 1940 census was taken, the association stated. About a third of this gain, 235,000, was made during 1942. The 1940 census showed 6,907,387 persons in California. Only civil population is included in the estimates. Military personnel quartered in the state and the Japanese, 93,717 in 1940, are not included.

Seven counties in the southern California area have grown 376,500, an increase of 11 per cent, since the census it is estimated. Los Angeles county shows an increase of 214,400; San Diego, 110,700; San Bernardino, 16,900; Orange, 14,200; San Luis Obispo, 9,800; Riverside, 9,500; and Ventura, 1,000. Santa Barbara, Imperial, and Kern show little change.

Population of the ten southern California counties will be 4,218,000 on January 1, 1943, compared with the census population, April, 1940, of 3,840,733. Estimate of the January 1, 1942, population of the area was 3,840,800. Gain from the census to 1943 is 376,500 and during 1942 the net increase was 70,300 persons.

Eleven counties in the San Francisco bay area have grown 330,600 since the census, the association estimates. San Francisco city and county shows a gain of 46,500.

PLENTY OF CASH HERE; DEPOSITS SET RECORD

Sierra Madre is prosperous. Money is more plentiful now than at any time in the city's history and the quarterly report of the Sierra Madre Savings Bank shows that institution in the most flourishing condition of its existence. A report of the bank's condition submitted to the directors last Thursday and published elsewhere in the NEWS showed the deposits at an all-time high. They totaled $1,148,947.04, an increase of $174,000 over the amount shown in the previous report. Assets of the bank are shown as $1,268,285. Besides the peak bank deposits, the bank is way out front in the matter of the sale of War Bonds and Stamps among banking institutions in even much larger communities.

Another Call Goes Out To Book Lovers

Campaign On Now To Supply Army Camps With Good Reading Material

BY PERLEY POORE SHEEHAN

Once more the book-loving patriots of Sierra Madre—and that must mean just about everyone—will have the privilege of helping the war along by a donation of magazines and books. Of good magazines and books—the kind you'd want to read yourself, or your own grown-up boy would want. Great stories and great characters—and that goes from Robinson Crusoe to Ivanhoe to Superman and all between; from the Imitation of Jesus Christ to Ben Hur to the Mutiny of the Bounty, and then again all between.

These books are for our fighting men and women, and those who work in war-plants with homes in up-start and unalluring "housing projects," or those brave men of the merchant marine—for all of whom an hour off in the company of a good book may be a blessing and an uplift—or without this help that you may give—but another hour of boredom and dejection. These gift books are the food of the mind and of the spirit—as essential to the winning of the war as bread and meat. Ask yourself: "Why did Hitler burn books?" The answer is simple: Because he knew that every good book was a potential enemy.

This new Book Campaign—of the American Library Association, the Red Cross and the U.S.O.—had its official beginning two days ago. Books may be left at the Sierra Madre Public Library, at our red cross station, or at the office of THE SIERRA MADRE NEWS. If you lack transportation or other means to get your contribution to one of these places, get in touch with any one of them and a call will go out for the service of our faithful Boy Scouts.

FAILURE TO PLANT VICTORY GARDENS IS HELD DELIBERATE SABOTAGING OF WAR EFFORT

"We can't win with weeds," the State Council of Defense advises in a bulletin just issued, warning that every householder, who is growing weeds instead of vegetables in his backyard, is sabotaging the food-for-victory program.

Furthermore, any householder who does not raise his own vegetables during the coming year, is going to have to go without many of the edibles he once set on his table.

Urging early plantings of Victory Gardens the council listed as suitable for January seed plantings in the state, the following: beets, carrots, endive, leek, lettuce, mustard greens, onions (sets or seeds), parsley, parsnips, peas, radishes, spinach and turnips. Plants to be set out in January include broccoli, brussels sprouts, cabbage, celery, cauliflower, kale and artichokes and asparagus (second year crop).

Carrots, onions, peas, cabbage, beets and spinach are on the "essential list," according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture, since they're highest in food value. Of secondary food value are lettuce, celery and cauliflower.

One of the advantages of January plantings, the council pointed out, is in the fact that irrigation is not a requisite, and gardens therefore require less care.

Seeds and plants, in most cases, are plentiful, despite labor shortages and transportation

Draft Takes Ten More In Sierra Madre

Eight Of Those To Report On January 16 Are In The 18-19-Year-Old Group

Ten Sierra Madreans, including eight youths who registered with the 18 and 19-year olds, received induction notices yesterday for the January 16 draft call from the Monrovia - Arcadia - Sierra Madre Board.

Those called are Charles L. Cullum, Kenneth R. Ogg, William N. Miller, Jerome J. Thill, Donald W. Williams, Thomas W. Matthews, William E. Rhodes, George F. Lund, James R. McLeod, and Valente L. Mariotti. This group will leave at 6:30 a.m. January 16, from the Monrovia station, along with 70 others from Arcadia and Monrovia.

According to the Office of War Information, older registrants in the 18-19-year old group will be called first, meaning that there will be no lotteries for this group. Except for young men who are deferred by reason of their dependency status or because of their occupations, those persons who are nearly 20 will be called first.

Of the 69 youths who registered at the board last month, 15 are from Sierra Madre. It is possible that these boys may be inducted into service sometime in February. However, members of this group who will graduate from high school in June will be exempted provided they notify the local board, in writing, of the date of their graduation. All youths who graduate in January will be deferred until February. This also holds true for those who registered in June as well as in December.

Sierra Madreans To Furnish More Rooms At Camp Santa Anita

Liberal donations of furniture, games and books for the soldier at Camp Santa Anita are still pouring in to the Camp Santa Anita Hospital service room. Baldwin ave., and the local Red Cross and Bundles For America chapters are requesting all residents deliver into the hospital unused articles that might help furnish a recreation room. Damaged articles will be repaired before being sent to camp.

Sent from Sierra Madre this week was a complete writing room furnished by the Woman's Guild of the Church of the Ascension through the local Red Cross Chapter. Another room is being furnished by Bethany Church.

Mrs. Philip Senour announced this week that for the education of people unfamiliar with the Red Cross Camp and Hospital organization, a film will be shown at the Wistaria theatre January 10, 11 and 12, showing the work being done by the group.

Tommy Mitchell Is A Sergeant Now In The South Seas

Tommy Mitchell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mitchell of 50 So. Hermosa st., and now in a combat unit of the Army in the South Seas, has been promoted to the rank of sergeant, according to a letter just received by his parents.

Sgt. Mitchell has been deviously fortunate in his promotions. He was made Pvt. First Class three days after his arrival at Ft. McArthur and jumped the grade of corporal to that of sergeant after only nine months of service.

He reports that he has enjoyed excellent health in the unhealthy climate in which he serves. "Tom wrote that the only hospitalization he had down there was two days for inoculation for malaria," his father said. "He wrote that the first day he got along splendidly, but the second day he took a turn for the worse."

Sgt. Mitchell will be glad to hear from his friends. His address is Sgt. Thomas W. Mitchell, Ser. 19081458, Task Force 9156, APO. 932, San Francisco, Calif.

Tell How You Can Be Smart, Patriotic And Save Tires

In a report to OPM, the Society of Automotive Engineers tells how the man who drives a car can get more mileage, save his tires and prolong the life of his car. Here are the rules: Drive at moderate speeds. Accelerate slowly. Use brakes only when necessary. Don't race the motor, idle the engine, pump the accelerator. Use lightest lubricants for vital parts. The chassis and parts should be kept well lubricated. The ignition system, plugs, carburetor and air-cleaner should be kept in good condition. The motor should be properly tuned, brakes in proper adjustment and wheels properly aligned. Motorists should keep the cooling system thermostat at the proper setting; keep tires correctly inflated. For maximum mileage it is recommended that tires be inflated to five pounds above specified pressures.

It will be smart and patriotic for all motorists to follow these rules.

"Eccentric Driving" Brings Two Arrests, A Fine And Trial

Only two entries were made on the local police blotter over the Christmas holiday, both for violation of the State vehicle law. Samuel Seibert and Fred R. Salter, were arrested December 24, for eccentric and unsafe driving. Seibert entered a plea of guilty Monday morning before Judge Eaton and was fined $100. A sentence of 30 days in the county jail was suspended for one year on condition that he obey all traffic rules and not drink liquor during that time. Salter pleaded not guilty on Tuesday morning. His trial was set for January 19.

FIRE FLAMES

The biggest loss resulting from the fire call last Friday night was when Hi Embree failed to get a dozen good cigars that were labeled for him and carried in Jim Heasley's cap. A friend knowing the pleasure Hi gets from a cigar, gave Jim the smokes to deliver to Embree. The fire call came in and the wind forced Jim to remove his cap as he drove the truck. The cigars were lost in the fray. No other damage of note was caused by the fire.

The fire call gave Ellet Jackson an opportunity to have a good ride on the fire trucks before boarding a street car for Fort McArthur. He was home on leave and ready to return when the fire call came in. He left immediately after the trucks were returned to the station. Ellet has been a member of the department for a year and a half and has responded to fire calls with much enthusiasm. He will be missed by the boys.

Classes To Advance Service Men And Defense Workers

Many defense industries, such as ship yards and airplane plants, are giving tests of intelligence and temperament to all applicants for jobs before hiring and placing them. Anyone expecting to take such tests will profit by attending the class in Civil Service Examinations held in room 170C at the East Campus of the Pasadena Junior College on Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7 to 9 o'clock. Students in the class learn what these tests are like and how to proceed efficiently in taking any test.

Young men who expect to be called into service soon can get many valuable tips in this class on how to make better scores on the many tests they will be required to take as soon as they enter the Army or Navy. It is important that inducted men make as high scores as possible as their chances for advanced training and promotion depend almost entirely on the results of these "screening tests."

A.L.A. Activities

Members of Unit No. 297, met at the home of Grace Caukin December 30th for their annual Christmas party. Special guests were Mrs. Hazel Taylor, 18th District president; Past-President Margaret Utz, Red Cross Instructor Augusta Coats and Miss Ruth West. Mrs. Taylor emphasized the necessity of increasing our child welfare donation this year to take care of the children of the service men of this war as well as those of World War No. I. It will also be necessary to increase our order for poppies as the hospitals are full of casualties of the new war who will participate in the poppy production this year.

New chairmen appointed were Helen Lovejoy salvage, and Minnie Stinman, war-service. Six months of Community Service amounted to 2177 hours. First Vice-President Claire Moon was present after spending five months working on the air-warming service in Los Angeles.

January District meeting and initiation will be held at the Womans clubhouse in Temple City January 18th.

Following the regular meeting, the guests assembled around the beautifully decorated Christmas tree in the Caukin's living room, singing Christmas carols. Gifts were then distributed and a delicious buffet supper served. While this was in progress, Chaplain Lotta Hopper dropped in with her daughter Mrs. Edwards of Oregon and her grandson, George Thornton Edwards, survivor of the Yorktown, who talked of his thrilling experience.

Our next meeting, a 10 o'clock Brunch, will be held at the home of Leila Embee, Thursday, January 14th.—Maybelle C. Barker, Press-Chairman.

Rainy Sunday Night In August Stands Out In Discussion Of Present Dry Season

Lack of rain and the exceptionally fine weather Southern California has been enjoying is stirring up almost but not quite as much discussion as that rainy Sunday evening last August. Three light rains to date this season has many long time residents of the San Gabriel valley digging up their records, but they find the lack of rain until this time of the year is not so unusual.

Even though the records disproved the general belief that a heavy rain such as that one in August was unheard of, there still must have been something unusual about it to excite the comment it is still attracting.

Older residents here declared at the time they could not recall a previous August rain, but records of the city water department showed it had rained during August in several other years, though each time there had been little more than a trace. Mrs. C. W. Bowen went into a rainfall record kept by her father, the late J. G. Blumer, an early day resident. It showed that in the 14 year period between 1888 and 1912 light showers leaving from .06 to .76 inches, fell during August. These records showed the succeeding 21 years as excessively dry. But in 1933 there was a rainfall of .12 inches in August, and since then there have been very light August rains in seven out of nine years. A rain on August 18, 1938 however left 1.01 inches.

Discussing the rainy Sunday evening of last August the Azusa Herald quoted Elbert Griffith, a local rancher, as saying it set a 28-year record. Then the Herald continued.

Griffith and his father before him have been keeping a close check on Jupiter Pluvius for the past fifty years, starting in 1894, when the first rain gauge was installed on the Griffith ranch.

Only one year on record, according to Griffith, after going through his library of charts, graphs and rain data, found a heavier August precipitation. That year was 1904, when an August 13, a total of .95 of an inch fell in the short time of less than an hour.

The Puente Journal, on the other and, said the rain of that August Sunday evening "while unusual, failed to set any kind

WARTIME MEALS

LET SAFEWAY HELP YOU PLAN THEM DURING 1943

American homemakers have already discovered that the job of preparing meals in wartime requires a lot of ingenuity. It's no novelty nowadays to find that one's planned menu must be completely rearranged at the last minute because of some unforeseen scarcity. Here is how your neighborhood Safeway can come to the rescue: Always on display at each store are dozens of delicious foods that can be used to complete an attractive menu. If the food that you have planned to use is not available, you can quickly find an appropriate substitute. Another aid is the wealth of wartime food information that is included in the pages of the Family Circle Magazine, which is distributed without charge each week.

HELPING TO WIN

"Food is a weapon—a most powerful weapon", said Secretary of Agriculture Wickard in addressing the nation last week concerning the food supply. "If you want to help the Axis, one of the best ways is to hoard food."

We couldn't make a better New Year resolution than to face 1943 with a fine spirit of co-operation with Uncle Sam's essential rationing plans. It's useless to emulate the ostrich, hiding our heads in the sand in fear of it. If sacrifices are essential to victory, we can make them.

The retailer couldn't, and can't handle rationing without the aid of coupons. He'd have liked to do so, but difficulties arose. In would walk Mrs. Brown just as the daily butter supplies arrived and ask for five pounds. The clerk knows she is a good customer and he doesn't want to offend her, so he would hand her the order. At five o'clock, Mrs. Jones would come in. No butter left. Others had got there first and taken it all—and the clerk would feel as badly about it as she did! This is the picture that had to be adjusted. The retailer can scarcely avoid malpractices of this sort under existing circumstances.

The OPA intends to crack down sharply on any use of the coupons of children, for coffee. In the chain retailing stores, as well as in the independent stores where self-service has become the rule, this will mean that the checker must stop to read the ages in the coupon books presented for coffee. But the stores can't afford to permit violations for which they would be held responsible.

Let's get off to a good start, meeting the necessities of rationing with American good humor. The clerks need our help. Their heads may be spinning with price fixings, coupons, shortages, and the demands of customers. "If we manage our supply well," Secretary Wickard told us, "if everyone of us cooperates fully, we will not only have enough food to win the war, we will have enough to give everyone a well-balanced diet."

PLACE TO CUT

Some government agencies, directly concerned with the war, have had to be expanded, but others have long outlived any slight value they may have had. Some of these non-war agencies, could be abolished altogether, and others could be sharply curtailed.

In 1933, the government operated on less than 2½ billions. There is no sound reason why that figure cannot be approached again. With war spending estimated at 74 billions for the current fiscal year, every effort should be made to cut non-war expenditures to the absolute minimum.—San Diego Union

What They Say --

Lieutenant James C. Whitaker, Burlingame, one of survivors of Eddie Rickenbacker party, rescued from the Pacific—"No man who sets foot in a life raft can ever lose faith in God. I'd never been inside a church, but the first thing I did when we reached a base was to go to the little church there."

Dr. Lois Meek Stolz, State Coordinator of Wartime Child Care—"Every teacher of children and especially of very young children—should take on the job of providing more care for youngsters in her charge."

The.... Watch Tower

By Perley Poore Sheehan

NO USE to dodge it. The day will come—and all the better for us if we're prepared to meet it—when our own casualty lists will put a pain in our Nation's heart. Meaning your heart, and ours, and our neighbor's, be he known or unknown; and regardless whether or not we find the one name in the long list that may have meant the most to us. Five—or six—or seven—of our bombers "failed to return." Or, even, when the enemy lost a dozen fighters and we lost only one, or only one of our destroyers went down in the course of another naval victory. Even so have we known the chill premonition of a greater weight we'll have to stand up under before this thing is done. But, how—how shall we fortify ourselves?

THE QUESTION keeps coming back to us, daily now, especially as we read the reports coming out of Russia. Where life goes over the rim of that long front like the waters of Niagara. With a roar and a majesty, to shake the earth—and likewise the nerve and the imagination of the strongest. Russ or German, and the souls of them going up in a single mist. Will they now have an answer to the WHY of life and death?—an answer to the paradox of those million frozen and mutilated children of a Loving Father in Heaven? We wonder. And we wonder still, after having read perhaps a thousand books and having listened to more perhaps than a thousand sermons.

NOT WITHOUT love, we hasten to say; and often with a sense of grace and thanksgiving, such as may come to one from any contact with pure goodness. But the reason satisfied?—this Mortal Mind? Never! For fear of mistake, let's define "this Mortal Mind"—in our own way: As, primarily, a ray of that Light which St. John called God, and which does light every man according to that man's place in the infinite round of evolution—from the black headhunter of Papua to a Beethoven, or a Shakespeare, or an Einstein; but all of them, every man, all, Rodin's THINKER, with his fist against his chin and that look of human pain and query in his face; his own Mortal Mind, and his physical brain but the tool fashioned by that Mind, trying to shape the Truth even as Rodin shaped his image of Universal Man.

NOT FOR us to answer the ancient question. But from time to time we seem to catch a glimpse. As we read this tale of repeated holocausts—our own Pearl Harbor, the Philippines, the Solomons; and of those we do not call our own but which still are our own, perhaps, as offerings on the common altar of us all, this Earth. We seem to catch a glimpse—as our thought goes back to that first time it was ever given us to look at the terror, and the power, and the glory of that Niagara we've referred to. Niagara Falls itself. When we were a child. At a time, although then we had no idea of the matter—at a time when all the power of Niagara was still running wild. Running wild, that is, so far as man and his own trifling hydro-dynamics were concerned. When now, power to circle the world almost comes from that same seeming chaos.

AND SO, to this other, this spiritual Niagara—this Niagara of breath and dreams, and love and pain, this ocean of Life that now goes thundering over the brink called Death. Isn't there—don't you suppose—don't you dare to imagine and hope, if not to pray that such might be— isn't there likewise some way to render this great escape of spiritual energy of use to man? Just a glimpse; but it may be worth keeping in mind. Against the day, say, when we see our own brave young hosts rushing the way that will leave us stunned and dizzy. At what? At—Milton described it in his Paradise Lost: "This wild abyss, the womb of Nature and perhaps her grave." Which, Oh, Lord? And, anyway Why?

THIS, THEN, to think about. That there may be—can be—must be—a Celestial Mechanism overtopping our human mechanics as ever did the sky overtop the Tower of Babel. For proof—however tenuous and shadowy—see how all that is great and good in the world—and in your very own life, most likely—was born of apparent disaster. If the truth be known, there is probably a Niagara of a kind in the hearts of all of us; and this, for all our tears and bitterness at times, but the constant source of Power and Light that makes us one with the Celestial Mechanism we call our Father and our God.

Designation of fresh oranges, grapefruit and tangerines as the Victory Food for the period January 7 to January 16, was announced yesterday. An abundant crop of citrus is coming to market this winter and it is urged that consumers use the fresh fruit and conserve other foods needed for the war. "Restrictions on tin," said the announcement, "have practically eliminated the canning of citrus for civilian consumption. It is more necessary than ever that oranges, grapefruit and tangerines be consumed in their fresh form to prevent waste of a valuable food."

You may be able to get some personal satisfaction out of the prediction by Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the journal of the American Medical Association, who says "Exercise all you want up to 30, slow up at 35, don't lift a finger unnecessarily after 40." The question arises as to what is necessary. And what is necessary in the light of today's emergencies may have been (under the Fishbein program) either unnecessary or unwise not so long ago.

Women toll bridge collectors have appeared in the East... In Cleveland, one restaurant chain advertises for housewives to work during the lunch hour.

THINGS TO LOOK FOR—Plastic automobile license plates. Several states are testing them for possible use next year... A power to smother alcohol fires... Wood hinges which anyone that can use a saw and screwdriver can install... New non-sparking floor and table covers said to be especially suited for powder plants... That device to help motorists obey the 35-mile-an-hour limit has been named the "Speed Warden." It attaches simply to the foot accelerator and thus doesn't cut down on a car's reserve power or speed.

By LEONE BAXTER

Inevitably, the same capable hands that are working day and night to gear the nation for war are throwing up the obstacles that will lie boldly in the path of reconstruction when the war is over.

You can't move an average of 100,000 men per State off to war and leave the communities they came from unaffected economically. You can't transfer women by the millions from their homes into the war factories without a terrific social upheaval. You can't close down entire industries one day and open brand new ones the next without dislocations of major character.

And you certainly can't reverse those operations, the day peace comes, without colossal upset, and nobody expects to.

What, though, can California do with—or for—a million new citizens working in war jobs, after the jobs are finished?

Will those workers want to return to Kansas and Nebraska? Many observers think not—or at least they think, reasonably enough, that more will wish to remain than will wish to go home.

How many are saving enough of their big paychecks to take them out of the trailer camps of San Diego, the residential barracks of Richmond and Sausalito, to take them to the spots where they may put their roots down and get back to normal?

How many are thinking that far ahead?

If the experts could guess the answer to those questions they would know how to proceed now to make post-war problems a little lighter.

The redistribution of millions of workers whose patriotic tide has flooded and jammed the war industry areas, is a practical issue that will have to be met. It is dependent, of course, on economic factors far stronger than the personal desires and plans of the workers. And it will affect most emphatically the position of the boys returning from the war, hoping to resume their places in the national life again.

Among all the States, California probably will be able to meet the reconstruction problems better than most. California was ready and waiting with all the facilities—the raw materials, the labor, the transportation, the power, the climate and the geographical position—when war opened the door on the tremendous importance of the Pacific.

California businessmen and industrialists, who dared to meet the challenge when it came, will strive to keep that door open, helping to solve post-war economic problems and helping to make this nation great long after the war is won.

Things The Enemy Shouldn't Know

A bulletin from the Office of Censorship says:

On battle fronts every day men risk their lives to discover the location and strength of the military units of the enemy. Yet at home, too many of us are presenting the enemy with information of the same military value. This is the information which newspapers and individuals are asked not to tell the enemy:

DO NOT TELL the names of ships upon which sailors serve.

DO NOT TELL the troop units in which soldiers serve overseas.

There is no objection to revealing that Pvt. John Jones is in Australia or that Seaman Tom Brown saw action in the Atlantic, but there is military information which endangers the lives of American fighting men in stating that Pvt. John Jones, "Company C, 600th Infantry," is in Australia, or Seaman Tom Brown, "Aboard the U.S.S. Wisconsin," is in the Atlantic.

The bulletin adds: "We ask editors not to publish these troop identifications, and ask parents and relatives not to reveal them. Don't give the enemy anything that may lengthen the war!"

CHARLEY'S AUNT

What About Your Dog Or Cat If Bombs Fall?

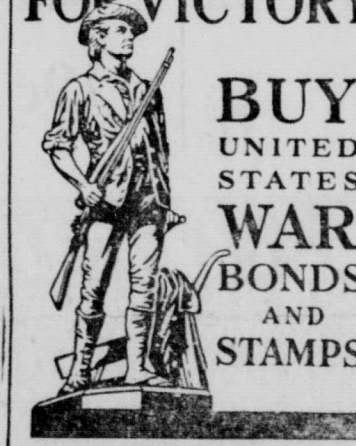

If you have a dog or cat, and haven't given thought to the matter of quieting pets through an air raid, you just aren't ready for a raid—no matter if you've memorized the last detail of instructions for protection of human life and property. For the protection of yourself as well as your pets, you should give them sedatives in form of aspirin or sodium bromide as soon as possible. With ether drug, the dosage is two grains for small dogs and cats, five grains for medium-sized dogs, and 10 to 15 grains for large breeds.

That advice was given last week by a man who has handled hundreds of pets belonging to other people. He is Jack Berry, veteran bell-boy; and the pets, mostly dogs, he has taken for guests of a big San Francisco. You learn dog psychology best, says Mr. Berry philosophically, when you handle other people's dogs.

"The gentlest of dogs may be dangerous," he said, "when badly frightened. Dogs like me; and I can easily calm a country-bred dog startled by the roar of traffic. But I can imagine the friendliest animal being driven into stark terror and becoming dangerous to his own master or mistress in the hell of an air raid. And if an air raid ever comes to this hotel, I'm prepared with the aspirin and the bromide—and I'd advise every pet owner to be prepared likewise, whether at home or traveling."

It does seem a point of safety for pet owners, as well as of humaneness toward loved animals, to consider this bit of advice from a wise bell-boy on bombs and pups.
